FOREWORD

An etching is a drawing composed of separate lines that come together to form a complete picture. Each and every line is as important as the other. Together we all represent an etching. Each of us as a separate personality depicts the individual lines — lines that are forever changing, constantly merging, and eventually fading. As one line disappears, a new one takes its place; but our lines are not forgotten for we have left our imprint on the master etching.

new relationships,

You realize that you're just an intricate part of the master etching.

Jim,
You were nice sometimes but mostly you were an ass... you never gave me my poster + thats
why. Luv Ya Anyways.

Jim
Hey, if you only knew what a great little guy you are. But Jim you seem to think your not as good as the rest but you sure are. You've got to remember that you're always to strive for the best and no less. Just remember you can be the best, if you stay mellow and don't explade.
Remember. Keep Mellow!

Homecoming 1978

Homecoming this year was one of changes; there were no floats, no parade, and originally no night rally was scheduled. It was also the year of our first Homecoming "strike." Actually this strike was a group of about twenty who protested the elimination of the parade. As a result, the night rally was returned to the agenda of activities. At the night rally, Sam Worley was crowned King.

Our Varsity team lost a 9-6 Homecoming thriller against Rio Linda, and the J.V.'s battled to a tie. During half-time festivities Adrienne Hilgert was crowned Queen, Sue Wilchar and Melissa Moffett were selected Senior Princesses. Rounding out the Homecoming court were Junior, Colleen Rose, Sophomore, Dana Hilgert, and Freshman, Melinda Meyer. With the theme of A Night in Heaven, Homecoming activities culminated at the dance at Wolf Run.

Varsity Finishes Strong

Once again the trite statement, the score doesn't tell the whole story, applies to our Varsity football team. With a dismal 1-7-1 season the Vikes still exhibit the dignity of men of character. Plagued with internal problems, the Viking machine never really got rolling. Every game was hard fought and hard hitting; however, the games were defeats. Yet the team did have talent. In the pre-season, the Vikes showed real promise. This year also proved to be the last year for Doug Gebott as Head Coach. His record had its ups and downs, but his aim was always to win, and we thank him for that. The highlight of the year came in the final game of the season when the Vikes defeated the Folsom Bulldogs. Through the season the Vikes built a reputation as die-hards, and with outstanding players like Casey White, (most valuable back) Chris Shelton, (most valuable lineman) Dan Bernard, (most inspirational) Jeff Smith, (most improved) and the rest of the squad, this year's Varsity football had something about which to be proud.

Sophomores Fare Well

This year's J.V. squad was a group of enthusiastic players. For them, this season was more lucrative in the win column as they ended up 3-5-1. All of their victories were by a large margin, and they were never out of the game. Head Coach, Andy Miller seemed as enthusiastic as his players. Coach Miller said, "We have a nucleus of 33 men which is good for next year's Varsity." This year's J.V. squad indeed looked good, and they can see only good things for themselves. The J.V. Vikes were led by Most Valuable players, Jeff Grussing and John Sardine.

Frosh Struggle to Even Record

The freshmen broke even against tough competition. However, Coach Alcott was disappointed with his season. He felt his team should have done better. He was also distressed with the trunout which did not compare to the past few seasons. "The team never really jelled, but there were some outstanding individual performances," said Alcott. The team chose Eric Morgan as the most outstanding, and rewarded him with Most Valuable player.

Varsity Upholds Winning Tradition

Of the winning sports at South Tahoe, Cross Country seems to be the most popular. Year after year coach Jim Jones turns out winning teams. This year's squad was no exception. This is the third year in a row that South Tahoe has taken the G.E.L. This year they swept it. It was the second year in a row they beat Bella Vista by one point (32-33) at sub-sections. At Sections, however, they faired only decently but there was a bright spot; top runner, Brian Maas advanced to Northern California Regency Cross Country Championships. This year's cross country team has upheld the winning tradition at South Tahoe. Brian Maas was voted as the Most Valuable runner for the second year in a row. Most Inspirational went to Tom Meuser. Gene Day received Most Improved.

Small Team Big Promise

Though there were only four runners on the J.V. Team this year, they turned out to be the cream of the crop. Leading the team was Matt Jones, followed by his teammates, Kevin Casey, Leon Fairley, and Harry Wurmsdobler. The Sophomore Viking runners proved their skills and next year should prove their worth to the Varsity team. The Most Valuable runner was Matt Jones.

Best Frosh Team Ever

This year's Frosh team proved to be the best in Coach Jones' coaching profession. The team as a whole was outstanding, however two individuals stood out. Troy Garcia and Brett Hickman were the shining stars. Both runners ran varsity as well as Frosh. There is great promise for this team. The Most Valuable Frosh runner was Troy Garcia.

Girls Race Hard Towards A Successful Season

Working hard to keep up South Tahoe's tradition, the 1978 Girls' Cross Country team proved to be successful both as a team and on an individual basis.

A strong squad of Freshmen, Sophomores, a Junior, and three Seniors worked hard and improved immensely as they trained with the boys' team this year.

Coach Dan Dvorak proved to be inspirational in his first try ever at coaching. Mr. Dvorak is quoted to have said many times, "I'm so proud of these girls. They work so hard and they have all improved."

Proving to be as tough as everyone thought, the Vikings placed three on the All-League squad. Mara Haase, Liane Poell, and Mary Hitchcock led the team to a strong first place finish at the league meet.

Mara Haase who qualified for the Nor-Cal Championship meet was the most valuable runner for the team, while Liane Poell, a consistently hard worker was voted the most inspirational. Tina Vindum was the most improved.

Girls' Tennis Team Dominates the G.E.L.

Coach Gene Havrilenko directed his 1978 Tennis squad to a very succssful season. Proving to be as strong as ever, they defended their GEL title without any major complications.

Sophomore Kim McDonald repeated her outstanding performance of last year, becoming the league's singles champion again. The doubles team of Junior Liddy Steadman and Senior Jodi Stewart were the league champions in the doubles category.

The special awards for the 1978 season went to Kim McDonald who was the Most Outstanding and Jenny Crist who was voted the Most Improved player.

Girls' Varsity Volleyball Team Comes on Strong

Proving that they had gained needed experience last year, the 1978-79 Varsity Volleyball team won more games this year than ever before.

Coached by Doug Shinn, the girls had improved immensely this year. Setting and spiking their way through the season, they were powerful when working together as a team.

The Vikings were led by Barbara Korchendorfer who was the most valuable player and also was voted to the GEL team. Saskia Strijdonk, foreign exchange student from Holland, was voted the Most Inspirational player by her teammates. The most improved player was Cindy Tabarez.

Girls' J.V. Volleyball Team Improves

The J.V. Volleyball team had an inspiring season. Coached by Poni Allread and Doug Shinn, they worked hard, and it paid off. Working to gain experience and to improve their form, they stuck together as a team.

Led by Gina Calderon who was voted the Most Valuable Junior Varsity player, they learned many techniques and strategies. Andrea Hammett was given a special Most Improved award.

This year's Varsity Basketball Team had a disappointing season. The team played well, and confronted with adverse situations, displayed character. With high expectations in December, the squad weathered a long season and kept their head high. The season started in a ball of fire, however the ball slowed, and dimmed. The team had to make many changes. These changes cost us an outstanding season. The changes were, however, achieved and the season stands as is. This year's varsity is the first team to be a total product of Coach Orlich's program. Of this we are proud; thank you for four years, Coach Orlich. The most valuable player Kevin Kelly. This year's most improved was Tony Turski. Top defense was Chris Shelton.

Fair Season — Great Outlook

This year's J.V. squad was an outstanding group of players. Though their season was not outstanding, they were a team of heart players with the talent to be outstanding. However, they didn't meet their potential. We should look out for next year's varsity as they should be something to watch. The most valuable player was Mike Haruff.

Frosh Show Great Improvement

Vast improvement describes this year's freshman basketball team. The season started typically and ended in the making of a team, a good one, too. The team was led by most valuable player, Eric Morgan.

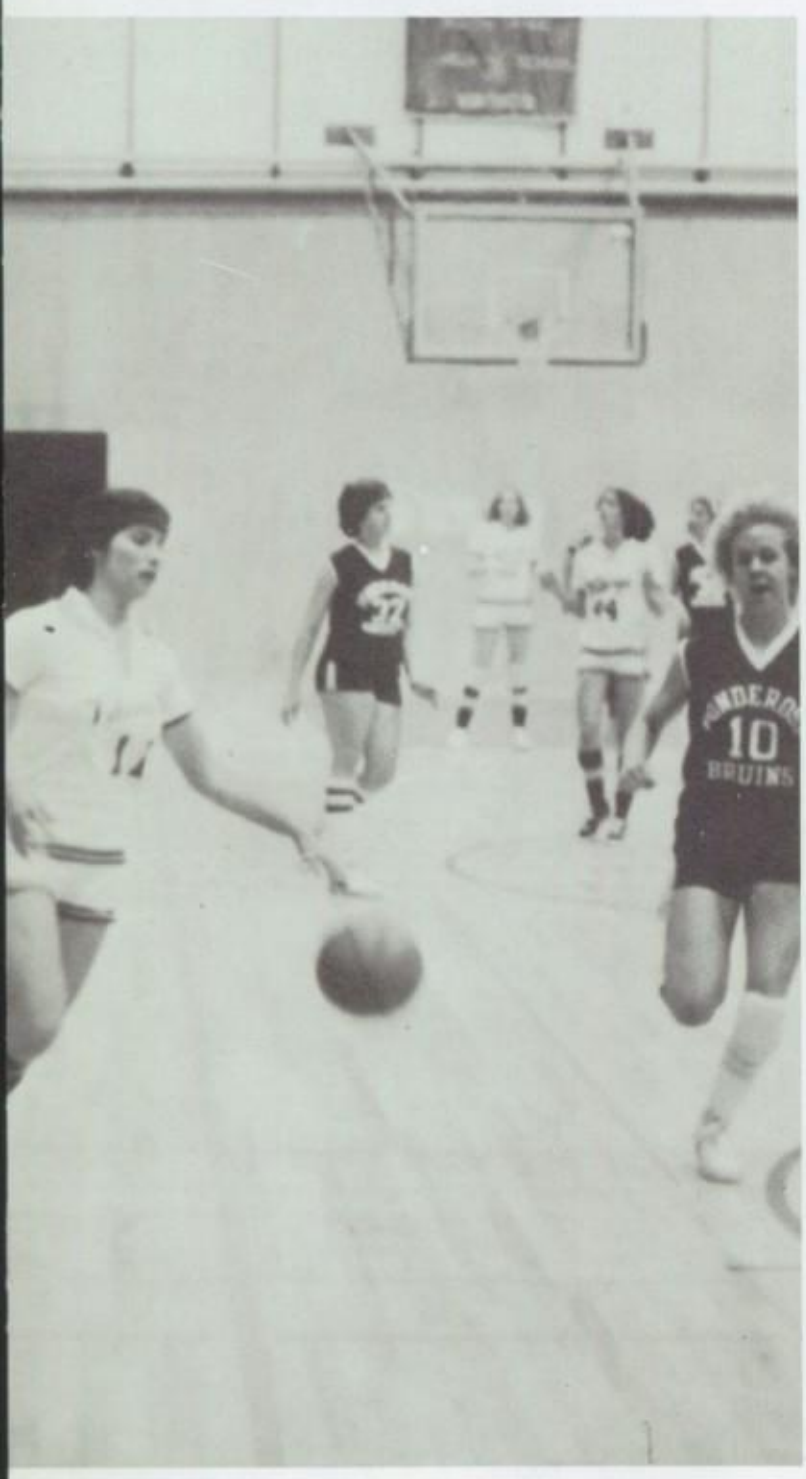
Robin Rodgers tests her height again. Brooke Laine uses one of her quick moves to dodge an opponent.

Under the direction of first year coach Linda Ghilarducci, the 1979 Girls' Varsity Basketball team worked hard. Consisting mostly of freshmen and sophomores, this year's squad shows signs of budding talent.

Coach Ghilarducci could offer only praise for her aspiring team. "They worked so hard. All year they played against teams which consisted mostly of Juniors and Seniors who had played together for three or four years. The experience that these girls gained this year should help them to improve next year."

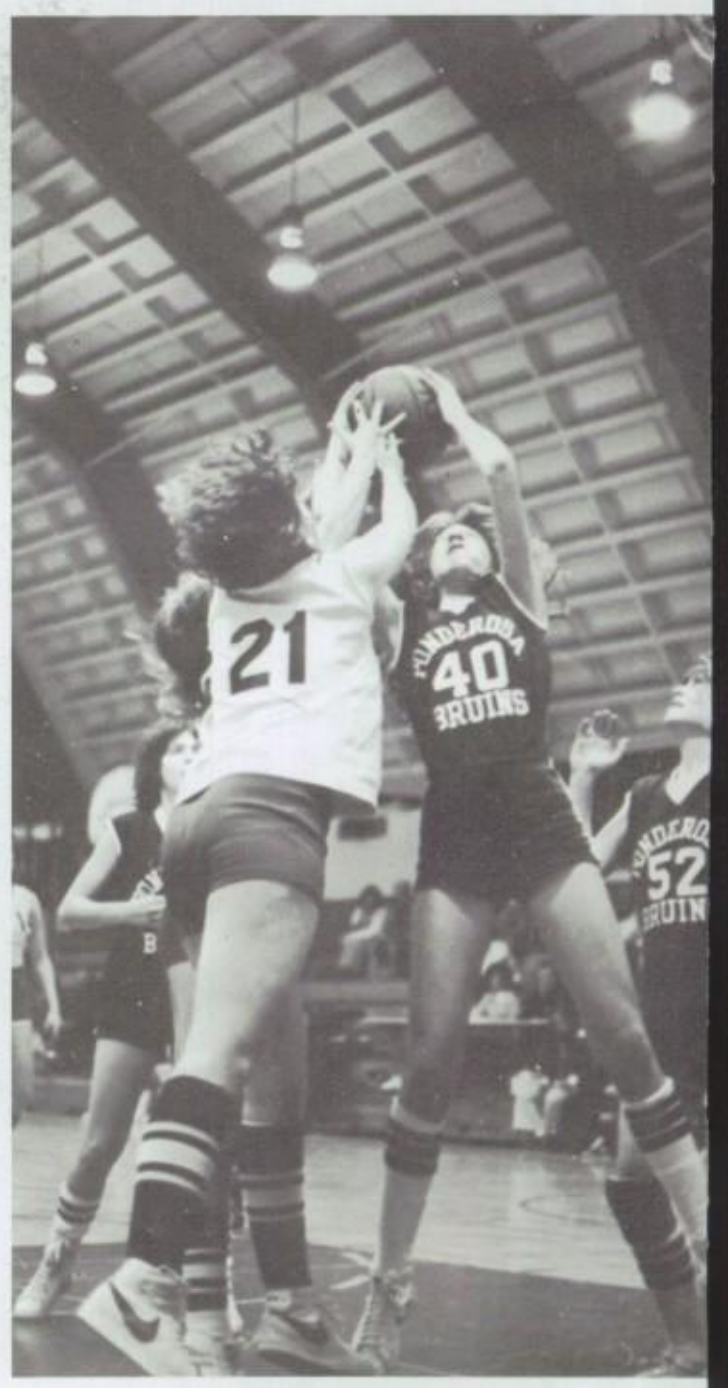
This year's team was led by their captains, Stacy Rodgers and Patty Hooper. The most valuable player was one of the two seniors, Patty Hooper, while the most inspirational player award went to Kathy Rutherdale. The most improved player award went to the other Senior on the team, Kim Foulk.

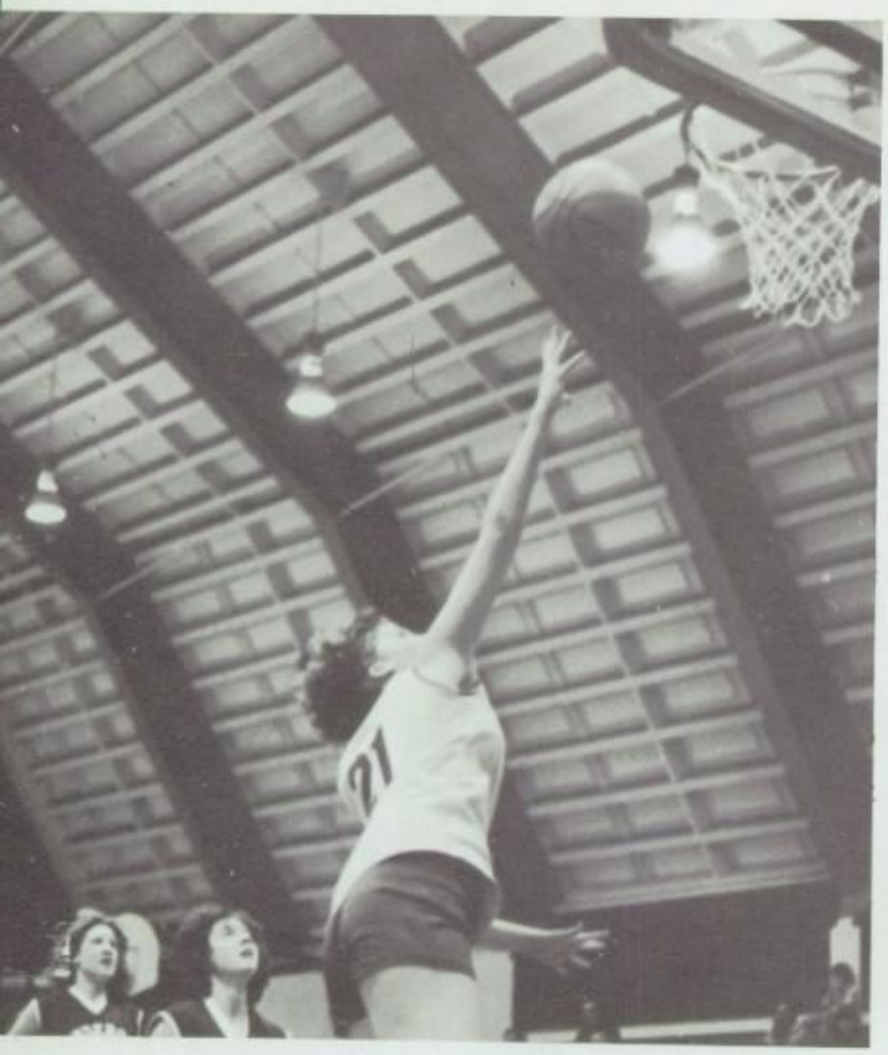


Girls' J.V. Basketball Team Strives for Improvement

This year's J.V. Basketball Team showed signs of being a great team. Working hard to learn their basic techniques, the girls developed many fine plays.

Coached by Mrs. Donna Jones, the girls improved immensely throughout the season. Melinda Minehart and Stephanie Rodgers were inspirational as captains of the team.





Clockwise: Coach Jones talks to her team in earnest. J.V. Basketball players get ready for the jump ball. Melinda Minehart reaches for a basket. Stephanie Rodgers stretches her stuff. Viking wrestlers show strength with an 11-1 season. Two first place finishes in tournaments was the pride of our varsity matmen. This year's team sported two freshmen, Eugene Torrisi and Scott Ashjian. Ashjian was quite a bright spot. The teams only seniors, Jeff Smith and Tim Porter, showed strength by taking league with Porter going to sections. Scott Ashjian, Ron Couch, and Randy Couch also went to sections. Randy Couch emerged from sections in second place to go to the state meet. We congratulate him. Equally talented, Ron Couch didn't fare as well. The team is young and growing, and if the team keeps improving as well as Craig Morgan, next year will be our finest. The most valuable wrestler was Randy Couch, most improved was Craig Morgan, and most inspirational was Jeff Smith.

J.V.'s Enjoy Undefeated Season

This year's sophomore team showed outstanding promise, and they backed it with action. Going 8-0, they can be nothing but promising. The entire team was good with Russell Griffin and David Lee standing out. With their talent just being tapped and with physical maturity, these Vikes are another reason to beware next year. The most valuable wrestler was Russell Griffin. Selected as most valuable frosh was Scott Ashjian.

Alpine Ski Team Shows Strength

The Alpine Ski Team showed the improved strength that was needed to do well this year. Led by a strong girls' squad, they won their first CNISF meet in three years.

Coach Paul Werley was very pleased with his team's stronger showing this year. He had predicted that it would be a year where no team would be dominant. This proved to be true, and South Tahoe was never out of the running. The season was exciting as many of the races were close.

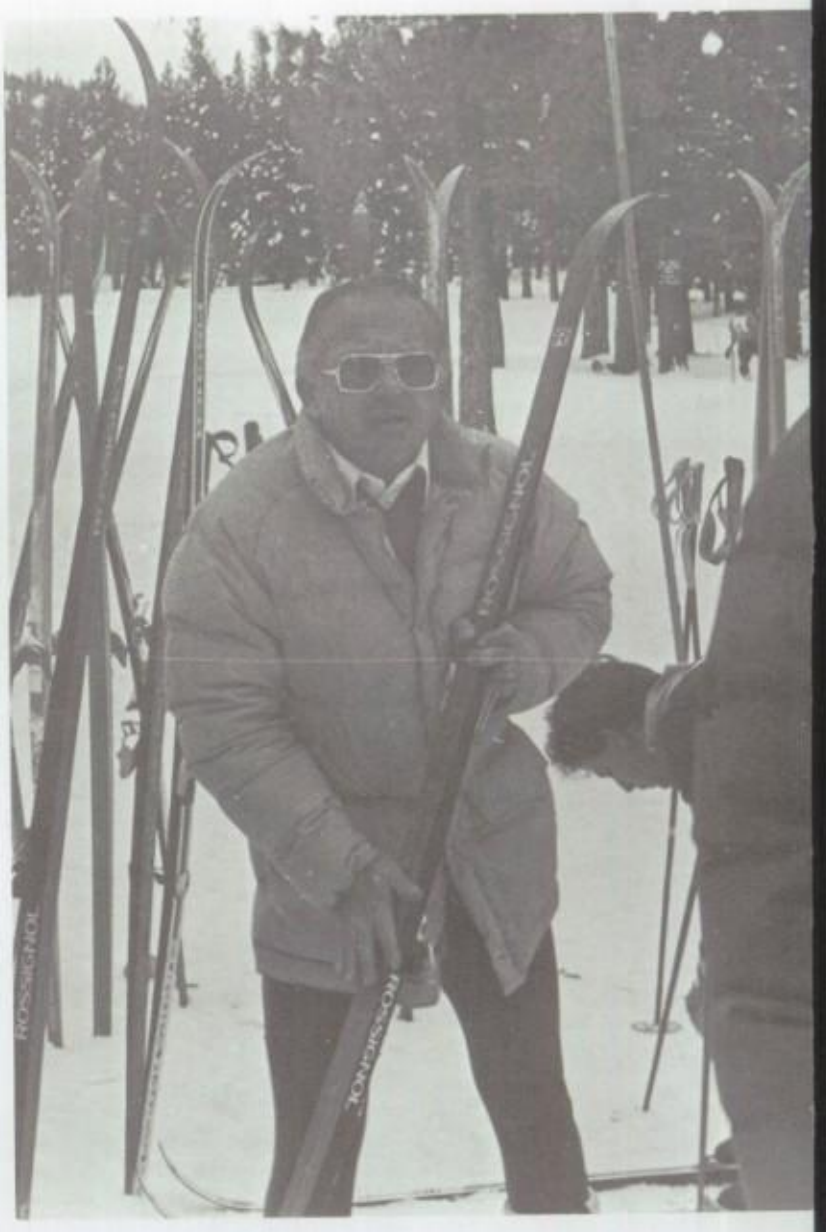
Nordic Undefeated Again!

First year coach Dan Dvorak was ecstatic with the outstanding performance of this year's Nordic Ski Team.

A group of veteran skiers set the winning pace while talented newcomers skied right behind them. These hardworking skiers were impossible to defeat.

The Boys' and Girls' teams combined to win every one of their league meets. In spite of a blizzard, the toughness of South Tahoe pulled them through to win the State Championships for the second year in a row.



Clockwise: Coach Dvorak looks up while in the middle of waxing skies. Freshman Brett Hickman pushes hard in his first year on Nordic skies. Brian Hawley shows off his stong double-pole. Endurance and Technique Lead Nordic Members to Junior Nationals South Tahoe Team Members dominate the Far West Junior National Team this year. Representing the Far West Ski Association and South Tahoe High School at the Junior National Championships this season were: Mara Haase, Lynn Campodonico, Melissa Moffett, Liane Poell, Elaine Hawley, Laura Leafdale, Jeff Ames, Mark Dvorak, Brian Hawley, Brian Maas, Noel Garcia, and Perry Voorhees.

Jim,

I think you are a very neat person. I knew you were when I first met you in J.J.'s class first semester. You reminded me so much of myself when I was in 9th grade. Everyone always pushing me around and bugging me. I HATED IT! (I am glad 9th grade only comes once in a lifetime! Aren't you?) Some people still do, but it doesn't bother me as much anymore as it used to.

You've got alot going for you, Jim. Don't let other people get in your way!

I am telling you this as a friend, because I really care about you and am concerned!!

It's too bad school wasn't a little longer so we could get to know each other better. I might not be here next year, because I'm moving.

Just remember everything I've said above, though I might not be here next year, my heart will be with you always!!

Call me this summer, maybe we can get together before I move. (577-0954) Love always, Lisa Hendrickson

So. Tahoe's Students Participate in Extra Curricular Organizations

From January 1978 to January 1979 South Tahoe High School was the only high school to offer a Youth Conservation Corps Program and give credit for it. During both the Spring and Fall Semesters, participants spent 9 weeks working in the National Forest and 9 weeks in the classroom. Y.C.C. students earned minimum wage while working on conservation projects from Georgetown to North Shore. As well as doing Timber Stand Improvement in the basin and working on several erosion control projects, enrollees gained environmental awareness during this work and study program.
The goal of the Peer Outreach Program (POP) is to provide training to students to be better "helpers" for themselves and for their peers.

We, as the class of 1979, wish to extend our thanks and gratitude to S.T.H.S. —

— for aiding us in our achievements,

— for advancing our minds and ambitions; not only intellectually, but socially as well,

— for giving the opportunity to expand our friendships,
— and for providing us with memories that will last a lifetime.

The last class of the decade says farewell to Tahoe, and to the experiences we will never forget.

Tom Meuser muses over his work and is amused by what he comes up with.

Lisa Petrusa — To be capable of steady friendship and lasting love are the two greatest proofs, not only of goodness of heart, but of strength of mind. — William Halitt —

Jeff Aiello — South Tahoe High gave me a lot, but with a shovel and wheelbarrow I made it through.

Kenny Brown — C'est la vie. — Old French Expression —

Kelly L. Butler — Miracles happen only to those who believe in them. — Unknown —

Joey Calderon — Take it all in stride and go in style . . . or don't go at all.

Lynn Campodonico — What lies between the beginning and the end doesn't matter, just do your best to finish.

Debbi Cary — Keep your face to the sunshine and you cannot see the shadows. — Helen Keller —

Brian Crough — Courage is resistance to fear, mastery of fear — not absence of fear. — Mark Twain —

Barry Hicks — There never was a horse that couldn't be rode, nor a cowboy who couldn't be throwed. — Unknown —

Gayle Dancer — For this is the day the Lord hath made, let us rejoice and be glad in it. — Psalm 119 —

Jennifer Deede — You can't make footprints in the sands of time . . . by sitting down. — Unknown —

Anna Deines — Life is a series of surprises and would not be worth taking or keeping if it were not. — Ralph Waldo Emerson —

Brook Dunn — Understanding yourself leads to better understanding others.

Kimberly Annette Foulk — Remember, a face is never really dressed without a smile!!

Julie Gamlin — The only way to live life is to take advantage of every situation. The most profitable experiences are found in the most inconspicuous places.

Glenn Sullivan — But You, O Lord, are always my shield from danger. You give me victory and restore my courage. I call to the Lord for help and from his sacred hill He answers me. — Psalm 3:3-4 —

John Syrstad — Don't ever be rolling a stone while being stoned and especially while listening to the ROLLING STONES FULL POWER. But just remember, IT'S ONLY ROCK AND ROLL (so like it). A WORD FROM THE WISE TO THE WISEST.

Michelle Trouchon — Let us be what we are and speak what we think and in all things keep ourselves loyal to truth and the sacred professions of friendship. — Henry Wadsworth Longfellow —

Karon Thomson — What you are to yourself is much more important than what you are to everybody else.

Paula Flynn takes a break from the routine of her T.A. duties.

Kathy Van Kleek — Love me without fear. Trust me without questions. Need me without demanding. Want me without restrictions. Accept me without change. Desire me without inhibitions. For a love so free will never fly away. — Dick Sutphen —

Casey White — Later on!

Susan Wilchar — Thanks for everything. There was much more than I had remembered. I took the things that were really important and left the rest hopefully in charge . . . — Unknown —

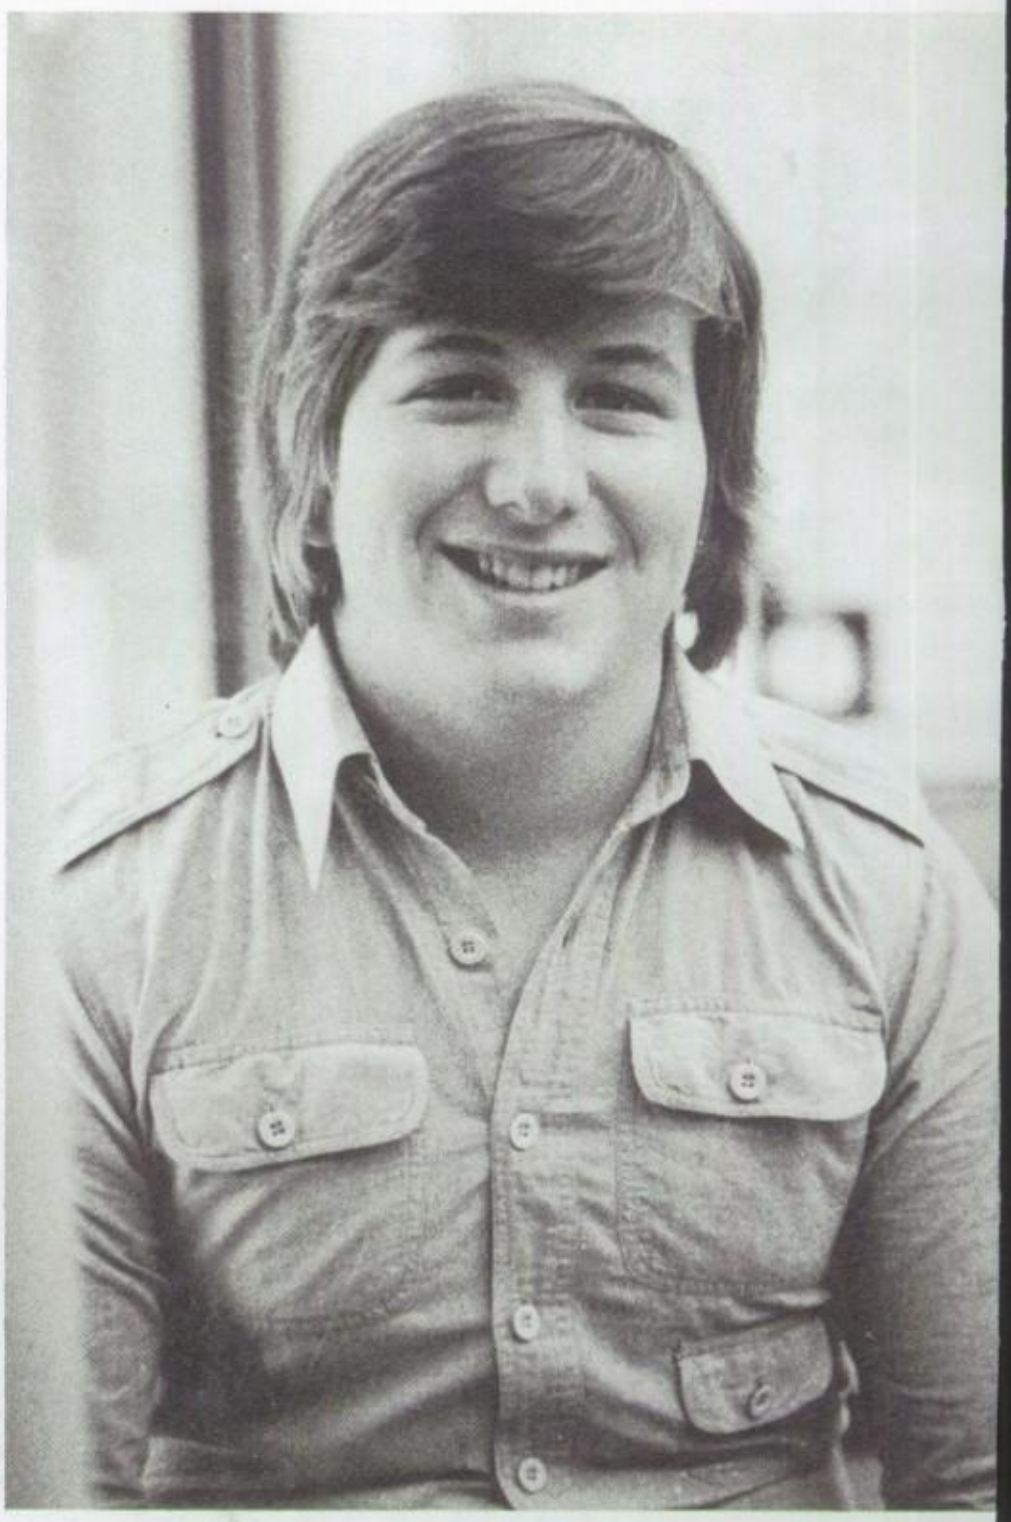
Bryan Williams — The past cannot be changed, the future is still in your power. — Hugh White —

Howard Wilson — Jesus said to him, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father, but through me." — John 14:6 —

Wendy Wilson — Search your thoughts and you'll find your dreams, search your dreams and you'll find your goals. — Unknown —

Diana Bruns — It's only the beginning — not the end.

Robert Brulhart — Be friendly and friends will be easier to find.



If you need a plumber, just ask for Peter Rotter.

Dan Smith caught in the act of making the move on his best friend's girl.

Erin Kirby — Surrounded by the fragrance of blossoming grass, I am alive with a love of life and a feeling of oneness with the earth. — Susan Polis Schultz —

Barbara Kochendorfer — True happiness consists not in the multitude of friends but in their worth and value. — Ben Johnson —

Roger Kortes — As young adults, we must learn from the past but must look into the future, for we are the future.

Lori Kowalsky — Laughter is the sunshine of one's soul. — Gene Havrilenko —

Jon Mantia — Determined to look for a goal; hold a straight line. And with love and kindness, I will succeed.

Donald Moore expresses satisfaction at being the subject for the cameraman.

Roxanne Perry — To all of STHS, and especially Mr. Dvorak, thanks! May future seniors have as much fun as we did. GOOD LUCK John Reed. Love ya! — MOE —

Tim Porter — It takes more backbone than wishbone to become good. — Unknown —

Mike Proctor —I'm only sorry for one thing. I leave behind many good memories.

Rich Pyle — Try not to become a man of success, but rather a man of value. — Albert Einstein —

Carlene Quinn — May all the best memories of high school stay with you.

Terri Draxton — Friendship is to be purchased only by friendship. — Thomas Wilson —

Noel Garcia — Each sunrise is a fresh beginning. Each morning is the world made new. — Sarah Wallsey —

Debbie Grech — I am not afraid of tomorrow, for I have seen yesterday, and I love today. — William Allen White —

Debbie Hawks — It isn't enough to know an opportunity when you see it, you must be prepared to grasp it and make it yours. — Marcia Primac —

Lisa Holmlund — We never reach our ideals, but the thought of them spurs us on to better things. —Unknown —

Sheila McDermott —
Big ships may venture more,
Little ships must stay near shore.
Big ship am I to see,
What the world has in store for me.

Tanya Mitchum — The days are finally ending, but the memories will stay fresh in my mind when I look back over the years.

Melissa M. Moffett — Cogito Ergo Sum. — R. Descartes —

Helle Sparrewohn Morck — Tak for et dejligt ar, det har vaerer en stor oplevelse. — Denmark —

Julie Noonberg — The time is upon us, today is forever, tomorrow is just one of yesterday's dreams . . . —John Denver —

Seniors crowd into the classroom where it's standing room only.

Patty Hooper — Sex appeal is 50% what you have and 50% what people think you have!

Guy Howes — It matters not how long one lives but how one lives. — Unknown —

Polly Hudson — The road is long, with many a winding turn, that leads us to who knows where. But I am strong . . . strong enough to carry on. — Neil Diamond —

Karen Hurzel — Don't fill your life with years, fill your years with life. — Unknown —

Ora Hydrick — To achieve all that is possible, we must attempt the impossible. To be as much as we can be, we must dream of being more. — Anonymous —

Lorri Jack — Some men see things as they are, and ask "Why?" I dream of things that never were and ask "Why not?" — Robert F. Kennedy —

Steve Jacobson — "I'm out! '79 is the greatest year of my life."

Jerry Booker plays trombone, failing to notice the black blob attacking his friend.

Cindy Elaine King — I'm just a woman who needs and wants, mostly things she'll never have. Looking for that thing that's hardest to find — myself . . . — Rod McKuen —

Bernadine Ramirez — All the days I thought could never end are gone . . . So many happy moments are now happy memories. But I still have tomorrows filled with the hope of things to come. — Lynn Steland —

Debbie Reich — It is chance that makes brothers, but hearts that make friends. — Von Geibel —

Joel Rhodes — The author, who had nothing in particular in mind when he wrote this poem would like to thank the publishers for finding the necessary space. — Richard Farina —

Daniel C. Riebe — To enjoy life one must never forget to listen to the rocks grow.

Lorrie Rilcopiro — Jesus said to him, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father, but through me." — John 14:6 —

Alison Fairbanks doesn't like the reaction she's getting to her hairdo.

Erica Ledbetter smiles at the clock as lunch time nears.

Cathy Ritter — A good-bye is necessary before we can meet again. — Unknown —

Stann Rose — It is always better to have tried and lost, than to never have tried at all. — Unknown —

Peter Rotter — The dedicated take care of their time and time takes care of the undedicated. — Phil Rizzo —

Karalee Rybolt — The moment is only temporary but the memory lasts forever. — Unknown —

Jill Sanford — Feel deeply, enjoy simply, think freely, take risks. Be a searcher for love, truth and God. Be who you really are.

Valerie Schultz — Do not follow where the path may lead. Go instead, where there is no path and leave a trail. — Unknown —

Chris Shelton — Let your own personality filter through, no matter how perverse it might be. — Anonymous —

Dawn Stilwell — Special joys and special places; special friends together — the moments pass so quickly, but the memories are forever! — G. W. Douglas —

Rocky Yee — Confucius say: One who gets together with Oriental, one lucky son of a gun. — P'eng Hao —

Scott Brown — You are now in need of some money; and what I propose is, that you shall go to work "tooth and nail" — Abe Lincoln —

Vivica Bell — God asks no man whether he will accept life. That is not the choice. One must take it. The only choice is how. — Henry Ward Beecher —

Rich Bass — Always us living love.

Jackie Padgurski — We never know the true value of friends. While they live, we are too sensitive of their faults. When we have lost them, we only see thir virtues. — J. C. and A. W. Hare —

Mark Adams — Give me chew or give me death!

Cort Abney — Nothing is worthwhile; everything is futile . . . No matter what we see we are never satisfied, no matter what we hear we are never content . . . — Solomon —

Jun Lee — Suffering is universal, especially when you're in high school. — partially by Buddha —

Adrienne Hilgert — Enjoy the moment, rejoice in it, for we have lost yesterday, and the future is not yet ours. — Taylor Caldwell —

Dana Magliari — The quality of a man's life is in direct proportion to his commitment to excellence, regardless of his chosen field or endeavor. — Vince Lombardi —

Christian Schroeder seems to have came across a difficult section in his guitar piece.

We Did it Our Way . . . or . . .

Please join us on a journey into the past, and we will relate to you one of the major success stories to have occured in recent years. The story tells of the class of 1979; a unique group of people — Not unique in the sense that every class says they are unique, but truly a select group. Not being conceited, the least we can say about our class of '79 is that its members were more liked, more personable, and filled with more personality than most other classes, as witnessed by the people we came in contact with. We are, truly, a success story.

From day "one" of our freshman year, it became apparent to everyone that we were not intimidated by any big, fat, brainless upper-classmen who spent their days "initiating" little freshmen. In fact, unlike any other group of incoming freshmen, we always knew that the stories we kept hearing about "Tahoe Shampoos" etc. were tall tales for purposes of listening pleasure only.

Our teachers found out that we could not be intimidated even by them; hence we were soon having classes conducted on our own terms.

Led lazily and haphazardly into high school life by our officers Amy Hayes, Dana Magliari, Joni Matteucci, Jane Lazovich, and Erin Kennedy, (who managed to raise $78!) an apathetic trend was soon started, which we successfully continued until we could officially label it "senioritis." And so, it has continued under its new name. A second goal was set by us "anti-establishment" freshmen — we placed third in the Homecoming float competition with our theme, "Cage the Kitten" (Marshall), a feat which we attempted to continue through future years. Jane Lazovich reigned as our first Homecoming Princess at the dance entitled "Windows of the Past." Our other claim to royalty that year was Julie Ring, who reigned as Key club Princess. Afterwards, life went on easily enough for us.

One morning in September 1976, we yawningly awoke before sun-up realizing our Sophomore year must begin. With some new faces in office (Dana Magliari, Barry Hicks, Rocky Yee, Lorri Rilcopiro, and Linda Peters) but the same old styles, our elected officials beefed up our savings to $188. We kept up our third place performance in the float competition with the amazingly ridiculous theme of "Beat the Daylights out of the Knights" (Rio-Linda — which, incidentally, we failed to do). Kathy DeLallo reigned as Homecoming Princess at the dance, "Dancing in the Moonlight."

Let's see, what else happened that year? Lynn Schelin was crowned Key Club Princess. Oh yes, and S.T.H.S. held its second and last Winter Carnival. Turning over a rarely seen spirited leaf, our class cleaned up in the events and won a $50 cash prize. Things to do have a way of evening out, however, as we hosted a dance that same night which lost, you guessed it, $50. (We still believe to this very day that Mr. Fiori, his heart filled with pity, pulled a small sum out of his own pocket to break us even for the day.)

June came, followed by September, with us wondering why people have made a big deal out of being "upper-classmen," for christening ourselves with the title did little to boost our egos, or make us feel physically larger, as previous classes have claimed.

This year's class officers meant business. Demonstrating a complete turnaround from the old norm, President Lynn Campodonico came at student government with both guns blazing. With her entourage of Melissa Moffett, Lorri Rilcopiro, D'Anne Schaefer, and Sonya Stirling, she bolstered our treasury to over $900.

The young ladies' motivation was quite commendable, but they did go overboard at Homecoming by coming up with a second place float, breaking the string which we had been so proud of. The theme of the float was "Kick the Cougars" (El Dorado). There is no need for us to feel too badly about coming in second because the float competition was really a two-way race. Concerning the actual game; we failed to carry out the advice of our float.

The Homecoming dance was the first in a series of appearances by the band "Sail" a group which has since found a second home at South Tahoe High. Despite the fact that the dance was named after the band (Sail Away) the festivities did go over well. Adrienne Hilgert represented our class that night in the Homecoming Royalty.

Who can ever forget the theme of the Christmas Ball that year. It was "A Candle in the Wind." The theme of death had suddenly become popular this year and it continued through the Junior-Senior Prom. The theme of that was "Stairway to Heaven" and it featured a band called "Cedro Willie" which played any kind of music but the kind people can dance to. Most couples ended up spending the night standing and talking.

June came, and try as we did to extend our summer, September came rolling around fast. It was then that we encountered the great myth concerning the joys of being seniors. It's true that we were almost finished with high school and this did, in a way, make most of us happy. Listen, though, everyone. As far as how it feels to be able to call yourself a senior, there's nothing to it. Whatever special feeling of greatness comes with being a senior, it must have passed us by.

Our senior year has been one unlike any other. Many unusual events took place which successfully broke up the monotony of day-to-day living. Homecoming traditions were broken, and this caused somewhat of an uprising from a small group who surprised us all by showing a desire for the old traditions. Few will forget hearing them yell "We want a parade!" and seeing that sign which read, letter for letter, "We want are writes!"

Remember how class president Mike Hankoff played it smart by coming up with the ideas and letting others do the work? Then the other officers, Adrienne Hilgert, Ken Tasseff, and Michelle Trouchon, decided they had had enough and demanded that he get to work. Apparently everything has gone smoothly ever since, for Mike said he would become more active and life continued.

The highlight of the year was definitely the school newspaper. Each edition for three school quarters came out late into the next month. Remember the very first one — you know, the one where the page numbers taught us all a new way to count? Then there was that Homecoming wrap-up on the back page — truly a masterpiece. This school will never see a newspaper quite like the ones we got this year. Then, of course, there was the celebrated football game between the "jocks" and the "heads." The name "Football Game" was just a cover-up for the gang fight which it actually was.

Homecoming this year was a nice change. The most popular alteration was the elimination of floats and the introduction of chariot races. Our class won these races, pulling a chariot donated by Erica Ledbetter, who hasn't been thanked enough for her many contributions to our class over all four years. Something must be done to change the races next year, though, because the team on the inside of the track won in every race.

We lost the Homecoming game again but we lost in style. Let's go on to the dance held that night. It was held at Wolf Run. There was no band; if there were, it would have been "Sail." The theme was "A Night in Heaven" and indeed it was with the presence of our princesses, Sue Wilchar and Melissa Moffett and Queen Adrienne Hilgert. Homecoming King was Sam Worley, and he was there too.

Our class as a whole once again showed its spirited side by destroying the record in the penny drive which last year's seniors were so proud to have established. The drive raised in excess of $500 for us and at least $200 of that must have been in pennies, most of which came from Todd Walters' green frog.

The year eased along and bypassed the Christmas Ball — almost. The Key Club wasn't exactly amused to find that they had scheduled it sooner than planned, and only a few days before the Ball was to be held, posters began to appear around the school. About twenty couples managed to show up, certainly not doing justice to Key Club senior princess Nancy Pulera and her court. The small turnout surprised us all. We felt for sure that hoards of people would come to hear "Sail."

That's the yeaf up until now. It was March at the time of this writing, and we were still looking forward to the Junior-Senior Prom, prank day, cut day, coming into class late, coming into class drunk, coming into class stoned and other ways of welcoming the Spring Months. We were also looking forward to graduation day.

After that final day arrives, people will probably be wondering what made the class of 1979 such a success. After all, there were no 4.0 students out of the whole bunch of us. Brian Maas came closest with a 3.95. We weren't the strongest athletics class either. But there was Bob Bennett, who was pole-vaulting with the best of them as a sophomore, soaring over fouteen feet as a junior and is looking forward to his best season as a senior.

We were a success because we are the same now as we were when we came here (for whatever that's worth). We didn't let the poisons of school policies alter the radiance of our auras or twist our minds to become pawns of society.

Something must be said about South Tahoe High in regard to what it did for us. We really did like the place, it encouraged our success but did not impose upon our decisions. It also provided us with wood railings and benches to immortalize our names on. And though it interfered with our education, it brought each of us something we couldn't achieve on our own, the pride of being associated with the best and most congenial group of people we will ever meet.

James, well you finally made it through your first year of high school, hard to believe! Well, it was fun being in stage Band. Have fun this summer and good luck.

We interrupt this yearbook to bring you the following message:

Congratulations & Best Wishes 1979 Seniors!

Including Michael Hankoff

And while we're at it . . .

Kenneth Hankoff — 1977

Gary Hankoff — 1975

South Tahoe High School (as well as South Tahoe Intermediate School and Tahoe Valley Elementary School) should be commended for having prevailed in spite of having endured the three above-named graduates.

Right on!

YOUR South Lake Tahoe McDONALD'S THANKS THE VIKINGS FOR GIVING THEM THE BUSINESS!

VIKINGS, Thanks for giving us the business this past year. Whether it was for a snack before that after-school meeting, a bite to eat after that Big Game, or just a great place to meet a few friends, relax and get a lot of good, hot food fast . . . we appreciate your business!

THE BEST BIG SISTER IN THE WHOLE WORLD IS ALLYSON

As we live today . . .

533-4411

Jim,
Well my little brother has become a sophmore how does it feel? I'd have to go somewhere so I'll finish later. It's got to be better than being a freshman. Actually you are really special person and I'm glad that I got to know you. I'll see you next year and the year after that and . . . -
Well anyway Bye Pappy. I love you.

Love,
Allyson

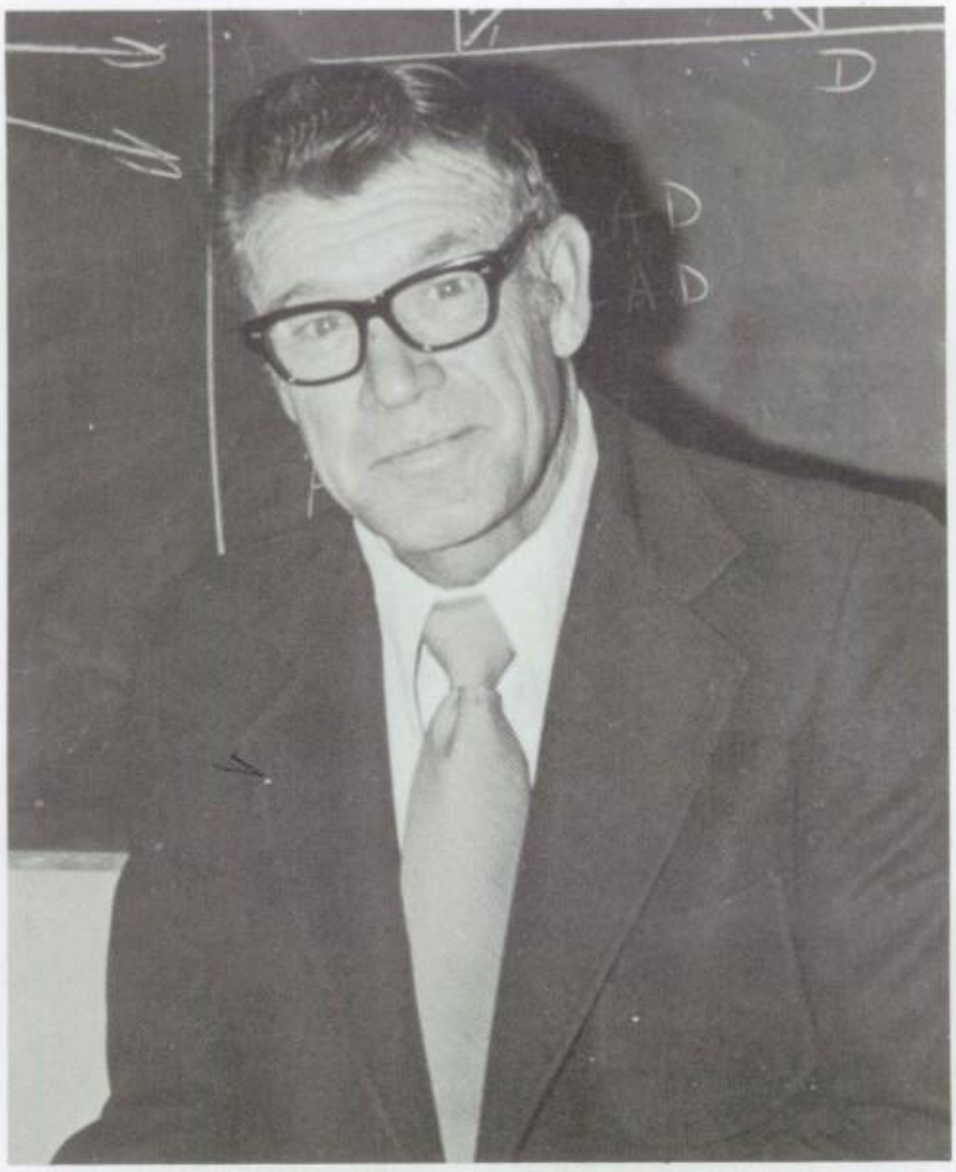
We Will Remember . . .



Keever Jankovich
1928-1979

Keever Jankovich was a man of rare personal qualities. He believed that there was good in all people, and he devoted his life to the nurturing of that good as a husband, father, teacher, coach and friend. He knew that as humans, we all have shortcomings; he was aware of his own, and strived to overcome them. Rather than dwell on the inadequacies in us, his direction was toward the good. The cultivation of our abilities was his continued aim. In one of his favorite speeches on the football field, he often said, "It is never a crime to get knocked down; the crime is in not getting back up."

Few men are revered by those near him as was Keever Jankovich. Those of us who knew and loved him have been fortunate. He gave a part of himself to each of us. We will miss him.

Hi Jim,
You were very good in the play and I think you got more kisses than Kevin, even if I did give him quite a few french kisses (10 pointers!). I hope you try out for the next play and I hope I see ya' next year. You and I have known each other since 8th grade, I guess, (I can't remember its been so long!), I hope we can stay friends. you stay cool and have a nice summer.

Love,
Amy
(un-washible)

P.S. you and Tammy made a good pair when you were "going around" together.

P.P.S. when you get older and fly Jet Vipers Don't come to me for your little kids diapers

(Ha! Ha! I know it wasn't funny because I made it up!)

Jim,
Glad I met you this year
